

APASTOR'S WIFE CURED OF PELVIC CATARRH

She Suffered for Years and Felt Her Case Was Hopeless—Cured by Peruna.

MRS. ANNA R. FLEHARTY, recent Superintendent of the W. C. T. U. headquarters, at Galesburg, Ill., was for ten years one of the leading women there. Her husband, a native of Ireland, was first president of the Nebraska Wesleyan University, at Lincoln, Neb.

Mrs. Anna R. Fleharty.

In a letter written from 401 Sixty-ninth street, W. Chicago, Ill., Mrs. Fleharty says the following in regard to Peruna:

"Having lived a very active life as wife and working partner of a busy minister, my health failed me a few years ago. I lost my husband about the same time, and gradually I seemed to lose health and spirit. My daughter is a confirmed invalid, and we both felt great need of an invigorator.

"One of my neighbors advised me to try Peruna. A bottle was immediately secured and a great change took place in my daughter's as well as in my own health. Our appetites improved very greatly, the digestion became better, and a refreshing sleep soon improved on, so that we seemed like new women.

"I would not be without Peruna for ten times its cost."—Mrs. Anna R. Fleharty.

What used to be called female diseases by the medical profession is now called pelvic catarrh. It has been found by experience that catarrhal diseases of the pelvic organs are the cause of most cases of female disease.

Dr. Hartman was among the first of America's great physicians to make this discovery. For forty years he has been treating diseases peculiar to women, and long ago he reached the conclusion that a woman entirely free from catarrhal affection of these organs would not be subject to female disease. He therefore began using Peruna for these cases and found it so admirably adapted to their permanent cure that Peruna has now become the standard remedy for all female diseases ever known.

Everywhere the women are using it and praising it. Peruna is not a palliative simply; it cures by removing the cause of female disease.

Dr. Hartman has probably cured more women of female ailments than any other living physician. He makes these cures simply by using and recommending Peruna.

Mrs. E. L. Brown, 329 Elliott street, Memphis, Tenn., writes:

"The Sun is seldom on time. He is almost always too fast or too slow. Once about the middle of April he is just on time, then not again before the middle of June. At the beginning of September he joins the clock a third time, and lastly once more late in December. Now it would seem as if he were startled at the way he had neglected us. In February he fell back until he was fifteen minutes late. By the beginning of March he had made up five minutes of his loss, and before the month is over he will have caught up to within five minutes of the schedule. Meanwhile the days have been growing longer very rapidly. We begin March with our nights longer than our days. We end it with our days longer than our nights. In the one month we have added to the length of our day an hour and twenty minutes, a bigger gain than any other month can show."—Prof. S. C. Schmucker, in the Ladies' Home Journal.

A lovely man usually enjoys a high opinion of himself.

She Wanted "Squash."

The fashionable physician had told his patient what he thought was necessary to restore her to complete health after the wear and tear of a hard social season. She was to take a brief Southern trip, give up all social pleasures for a while and diet with moderate prudence.

She looked thoughtful and took in all his advice. After he had told her what to do she turned to him and said:

"And how about squash, doctor?" she asked.

"Squash?" he repeated, with a tone of surprise in his voice. "Of course, you may eat it if you want to. I didn't suppose you cared for it."

"Eat it?" she repeated in disgust. "I don't want to eat it, but I want to play it."

The physician flushed slightly, remarked that he had so little time for sport that he could not keep up with all the new games, and told her to play it all she wanted to.—New York Sun.

COMMERCIAL FINANCIAL

New York

"Weather conditions have been potent for good during the past week. Retail distribution was greatly accelerated, which in turn enlarged jobbing trade and brought more pressure on manufacturers for prompt shipment; agricultural work was facilitated and building operations made rapid progress; traffic increased at the interior as the condition of country roads improved, which made collections better. Some labor controversies were settled and others were averted. Complaints are still heard regarding tardy deliveries, but freight is less congested, and business has increased to the extent of 6.9 per cent, larger railway earnings for April than for last year, and 16.3 per cent over for the year. According to R. G. Tracy & Co's Weekly Review of Trade, Continuing, the report says:

"Quotations of iron and steel cannot yet be considered inflated, but business is following a natural course, despite the efforts of leading interests to maintain a conservative position. Supply and demand must in the long run govern prices, and as the condition of the market is not such as to warrant a greater than available stocks, although productive capacity has largely expanded.

"Pressure for pig iron is very great, but furnace men have contracted for their output in the future, and consumers who want prompt delivery are willing to pay premiums. Similarly, as to steel rails, the regular price of $28 has become nominal on current business, an advance of $5 a ton being readily paid for immediate delivery. This is especially noticeable on urgent trolley construction. Specifications for new buildings promise additional material, while some mills have already sold their entire output for 1902. Machinery and hardware lines share in the exceptional activity, and are doing a brisk export business in spite of high prices.

"Cotton goods have not followed the fluctuations in the raw material, although their strength has contributed to the steadiness of the finished product. The feature of the week was the increased inquiry for export, and mills catering to this trade are sold far into the autumn. In the domestic trade many bids slightly below ruling prices were not considered, and it is evident that supplies are in strong hands. Deliveries are being made more promptly, yet there is no fear of accumulation.

"Retail goods are in less urgent demand, purchasers having secured most of the cloth which the American company was unable to furnish owing to the strike. Buying of dress goods has decreased, and jobbers are beginning to go out with fall lines.

"Footwear shipments from Boston have decreased, but jobbers are placing orders for fall and the shops are fairly well supplied. Shoe manufacturers are buying leather more freely, holding prices fairly steady, except for hemlock sole, which lost half a cent.

"Grain and meats have continued very strong. There was some logical expectation of the advance in corn, interior receipts falling to $7,000 bushels for the week, while Atlantic exports rose to 384,000 bushels, an unusually large total for recent times, although small by comparison with the corresponding week in preceding years. Wheat was sustained by exports from all ports of 4,433,891 bushels, flour included, against 4,613,891 a year ago.

"Cotton attained a higher price, Southern markets leading the advance on decreasing port receipts and a good demand from spinners. Sugar and coffee were notably weak, the latter falling to within a sixteenth of the bottom record. "Failures for the week numbered 261 in the United States, against 206 last year, and 24 in Canada, against 24 a year ago."

Bradstreet's says: "Nothing like the present activity in building is recalled for at least a decade past, and lumber and kindred materials are very active at most markets. It has been a weather market for the cereals, with the general tendency upward on poor crop reports from the Southwest and light receipts. The imposition of the export duties by the British government had only a momentary effect here. This country supplies two-thirds of the United Kingdom's takings of leading cereals. Corn and oats have advanced, partly in sympathy with the premier cereal and partly because of continued light receipts, and despite the reports that the bull syndicate has liquidated on the recent advance.

"The scarcity of pig iron improves the demand for scrap material, sales of which have been large. The carriage of lake ore this year is estimated at 22,000,000 tons, the transportation of 57 per cent of which has been already arranged for. Hardware is in very active demand, builders' materials especially so."

Preparation of Costly Farm.

When a workman in a fur manufactory is cutting up skins, he is literally cutting money; indeed it would be less costly to cut a garment from ten-dollar bills than to cut it from some skins. The cutting is quite an interesting feature of the work. To prepare a skin or sable, for example, the skin must be shaved into strips, narrow pieces more or less regular in shape, which are afterward sewed together. There may be a thousand pieces in a single cloak, the new and beautiful skins being literally cut to pieces before they are manufactured. The object of this is to lengthen the skins. The sable, for example, say two feet in length, will be drawn out to four feet and all its markings preserved, so that it looks like a very long, but well-proportioned, skin. The original skin is so cut to pieces that it may all be "matched" again in the elongated shape.

How Cheap Baking Powder is Made. The Health Department of New York has seized a quantity of so-called cheap baking powder, which it found in that city. Attention was attracted to it by the low price at which it was being sold in the department stores. Samples were taken and the chemist of the Health Department reported the stuff to be composed chiefly of alum and full of arsenic.

The powder was declared to be dangerous to health, and several thousand pounds were carted to the off dock and destroyed.

It is unsafe to experiment with these so-called "cheap" articles of food. They are sure to be put into the kitchen, or other injurious matter. In baking powders, the high class, cream of tartar brands are the most economical, because they go farther in use and are healthful beyond question.

An Alphabetical Courtship. "Yes," said the fair young girl, "I had a great many alphabetical courtships while I was in the country this summer."

"I kept on using the pills and am now entirely better. I honestly do believe that they are the greatest remedy the world has ever seen."

The present high price of meat is proving too much of a temptation for farmers and local butchers, who are selling to Cleveland wholesale houses meat that is absolutely unfit to eat. "I confiscated two beefs which were putrid," said Julius H. Schmidt, Superintendent of Markets, "in both instances I saw Schmidt. I think the cattle died from disease or accident. The trouble is that these local butchers go about the country buying cattle, pigs and sheep of the farmers. Old or sick cows that are past milking, or cattle that are hurt or diseased, are bought for almost nothing. The animals are driven to the butcher's home and slaughtered, but the butcher comes into the city and peddles his meat to the wholesale."

Health will come with all its blessings to those who know the way, and it is mainly a question of right-living, with all the term implies, but the efforts which strengthen the system, the games which refresh and the foods which nourish are important, each in a way, while it is also advantageous to have knowledge of the best methods of promoting freedom from unsatisfactory conditions.
